Serious Shooting

Bot May Lose One Eye or Both If Not Life

Belleville, Oct, 22 -- What may yet prove to be a fatal shooting affair took place in the township of Ameliasburg in Prince Edward County on Saturday afternoon. Two youths, Willet Weese, aged about nineteen years, son of Gilbert Weese and Lawson Way, aged about fifteen, were together, young Way carrying a shot gun.

Carson Jeffrey, lighthouse-keeper at Nigger Island [Ed. Note: Island was renamed Makatewis Island in 1966], had given Weese the key to his boathouse, and told him to lock, as a number of things had been stolen of late, The boy, who were on the best of terms, went down to the boathouse. When Weese said he was going to lock the door young Way is alleged to have told him if he did he would shoot him. At this time Weese was inside and Way about twenty yards away.

When Weese attempted to close the door Way is said to have fired. The charge of the shot passed through the door, striking Weese in the face, breaking some of his teeth and hitting right in the eye. Way became frightened, and throwing the gun down, ran away, leaving Weese to look after himself. When the victim had sufficiently recovered from the shock he began calling for help, and crawling on his hands and knees and trying to walk by the little sight he had left. Neighbors heard him and took him home.

Dr. File was called. He does not think the shooting will prove fatal, but holds out no encouragement for one eye, and there is a possibility of the loss of both. What action will be taken by the authorities is not yet known.
